

I am appaled that the NAB would make a move like this , when they are the same ones that try to put anything they can on the air. I am a over-the-road truck driver and the xm instant traffic and weather come in handy by letting me know if I need to take alternate routes to avoid traffic delays. When I go into large cities I need something I can rely on instead of trying to fumble with the regular radio trying to find a traffic radio station I can just set the xm radio and keep both hands on the wheel and eyes on the road where they should be.
